INFORMATION BULLETIN

March 4, 2013

On October 13, 2012 at 1230 hours, The Fauquier County Sheriff's Office responded to a residential burglary in the 11800 block of Cemetery Rd. in the Remington area. The victim was outside her residence and upon entering her residence she noticed an intruder in her bedroom. The subject was going through the victim's purse and once she was seen she tried to get by the victim and run out of the house.

The victim was able to grab a hold of the subject and ripped her shirt off. The subject also lost a pink hat that she was wearing. The subject was described as being in her 40's or older, chunky face, no glasses, light colored hair and approximately 5'2. The subject left the house with just a bra and pants on. A gold colored vehicle was waiting in front of the house for the subject.

The vehicle was described as being a round four door car that looked like it may have been a higher end model car. The vehicle resembled the style of the new Hyundai Sonata. A male was seen driving the vehicle. The male was seen outside of the car just prior to picking the subject up. The male was described as being short (5'6ish), fat, receding hair line, no glasses, late 50's to early 60's and looked a little like Danny Devito.
